

HEWITT CHAUFFEUR HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Killed Boy in Seventh Avenue and Then Made a Dash to Escape.

CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

Employer Expresses Regret and Says He Will Do Something to Lessen Bitterness of Tragedy.

Teruatti Attile, chauffeur for Peter Cooper Hewitt, who ran down and killed twelve-year-old Robert Claudet on Seventh avenue and Twenty-ninth street last night, was held without bail in the West Side Court today to await the action of the Coroner, who is making an investigation. The French Colony is greatly stirred up over the affair.

Though every effort was made to save the child's life he died several hours after he was run down in Roosevelt Hospital. The chauffeur, who tried his best to escape, was chased down by a mob of several hundred people. He was caught only after he had become entangled in a traffic jam.

The accident occurred during the rush hour last night. It has been the custom for chauffeurs to drive their machines at top speed through Seventh avenue. On Broadway and the other principal streets they maintain reasonable speed.

Boy Dropped Penknives.
The Claudet boy, who had lived with his aunt and uncle, Josephine and John Brodett, at No. 247 West Twenty-ninth street, for the past two years, started for a candy store. He was crossing Seventh avenue, at Twenty-ninth street, when he dropped the penknives he carried. He stooped to pick them up, unaware of the big machine that was approaching noiselessly from behind. As he bent over he was struck and hurled through the air for twenty feet.

The machine, which was going at great speed, then ran over him. The driver, heedless of the shouts of the people who had witnessed the tragedy, whirled his wheel, shot across into Twenty-ninth street and threw the door wide open. He would have escaped had not the driver of an express wagon, who had seen the boy run down, lashed his horses into a gallop and pursued the fleeing auto. The big machine was forced to slow down at Sixth avenue by a jam of vehicles. It swerved up on the sidewalk, though, and was on the point of again escaping, when the express driver leaped from his seat and yelled for a policeman.

Policeman Thompson, who was breaking up the traffic congestion, ran up and took the chauffeur back to Seventh avenue. There was a great crowd at his heels and the machine had difficulty in forcing its way back to where the little boy lay on the sidewalk.

When they liked the boy he whispered "Grandmother" twice and then lapsed into unconsciousness. The policeman saw at once that the case was a serious one and lifted the boy into the auto. He then ordered the chauffeur to drive at full speed to the Roosevelt Hospital. He never recovered consciousness again.

Boy Was an Orphan.
Robert Charles Claudet, the dead boy, had come to this country but two years. He was born in Troyes, France. His mother died when he was quite young. He later came to America the next year to make a home for his little son, but was hurt in the Jackson Iron Foundry shortly after he obtained work there and died in the French Hospital. The boy lived with his grandmother until she died two years ago, when he came to live with his uncle and aunt. He was very bright and stood at the head of his classes.

Peter Cooper Hewitt, when seen in his studio in the Madison Square Garden Building to-day expressed the keenest regret over the accident.

"The chauffeur was not my regular man," he said. "He was a man I had taken out of the factory on Twenty-ninth street and had been driving the machine for about two weeks. He was a careful man and I had the fullest confidence in him. I feel very badly about this matter and shall do my best to make the blow less bitter to the family."

TAHITI NEEDS HELP.

"Cyclone destroyed the Consulate Feb. 8. Records saved, but damaged. Library, stationery and consular funds lost. Governor's residence uninhabitable. Estimated loss in French Oceania $2,000,000."

The State Department at present is without funds to rebuild the Consulate. Congress having refused an appropriation of $100,000 to meet such emergencies in the Consular establishment.

THINK ABANDONED BABES ARE TWINS
Same Age, Dressed Alike and Were Found Near Each Other.
The police are to-day trying to determine the identity of two babies, a boy and a girl, who look alike, are dressed almost exactly alike, of the same age, and probably twins, and who were found abandoned in hallways of two third avenue tenements within two blocks of each other yesterday. Every circumstance points to their having been cast upon the world's tender mercies by the same person. Both were poorly dressed in soiled white clothing. Each is about two months old.

Winifred Templeton, fourteen years old, literally stumbled over the boy baby in the hall of No. 772 Third avenue. He lay in a dark corner, and Winifred would have thought she had tripped over a bundle of rags had not baby lifted up his eyes.

Mrs. Julia Driscoll, who lives at No. 695 Third avenue, a block and a half from No. 772, heard a baby cry outside her flat, and took baby No. 2 in. This was the little girl. Mrs. Driscoll took the foundling to the station-house, whence No. 1 had already been sent to

ROBERT CLAUDET, KILLED BY AUTO.

DOWN GO THE POWER RATES, THEN UP GO THE BILLS

Edison Company Reduced Price, but Cut Out Discounts, and the Consumer Is Forced to Pay More than Ever.

When the Gas Investigation Committee of the Legislature prepared early last year to probe into conditions in Manhattan the New York Edison Electric Light Company voluntarily announced a reduction in its rates of five cents per 200 kilowatt hours. The Edison Company was generally complimented for its generosity, although some were of so suspicious a nature as to charge at the time that it was simply a wily trick to turn away the searchlight of the legislative inquirers.

Business men were ready, however, to welcome the reduction regardless of the taint of selfishness said to be behind it. They didn't care what the motive might be if only they had a relief from excessive power bills.

But here is where the rub comes in. Almost simultaneously with the announcement of the five-cent reduction in prices the Edison Company made another change, about which, however, it did not make so much noise in print. Before the reduction was allowed business men using its power had been given the benefit of a regularly graded schedule of discounts.

Rates Cut, Bills Go Up.
When the reduction in rates went into effect these discounts were discontinued. Then, to their chagrin, users of power from the Edison Company discovered that with the reduction allowed and the discount disallowed they were paying much more than they had ever paid before for the same service.

In some instances, it is declared, consumers are now paying from 40 to 75 per cent. more than they formerly paid for approximately the same amount of power. In certain cases, it is said, the increase in a single month has amounted to as much as 90 per cent.

Naturally, when bills first came in showing such startling differences in the cost of power as compared to preceding months the customers protested. Their protesting didn't do them much

CLARENCE WAS A WINNER AT BALL

But a Jealous Mortal Sent Him to the Hospital, Wounded.

Clarence Gotten got so gay with the girls at the ball of "The Two Rambles Association," in Verona Hall, No. 172 Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn, last night, that he caused bitter anger to rise in the breast of "Totie Grinnie." It should be said that Totie is a masculine name in Brooklyn. Well, Clarence was a "four-time winner," the beau of the ball, and although, as the evening waxed late, his over-consumption of spirits made him a trifle odd, he still was the favorite, and could walk right up to any girl, look winningly at her, hold out his arms and she would fall into them and go sailing over the polished floor, leaving her partner standing there all alone.

"Totie wouldn't stand for this sort of thing, and when Clarence started off with his bundle of fluff on his arm, Totie stood right up like a man and slapped Clarence on the wrist—with a knife.

The ball stopped at once. Everybody realized that it was growing late, and that they had jobs to work at to-day, so they faded away, leaving Clarence to nurse a bleeding hand and wrist. He took himself to Lamb's drug store, at No. 125 Court street, where he was getting himself fixed up when a policeman happened along.

"Where'd you get it?" inquired the policeman.

"At a ball from a friend," was the response.

"You're drunk," said the policeman; "I'm going to run you in for disturbing the peace."

"But see how still I am," protested Clarence.

"If you're still with a wrist on you like that, you must be drunk, and if you're not drunk you must have disturbed the peace to get that out. To the quiet cell for you," and he bundled Clarence off to the Butler street station-house, where Dr. Upton bound up his injured member, which really is seriously cut.

Clarence probably will return to his home, No. 25 Douglas street, and maybe, when he gets around to it, he will send a summons up to Totie.

OLD SORES SAP THE VITALITY AND UNDERMINE THE HEALTH

Old Sores that refuse to heal are a constant menace to health. They sap the vitality and undermine the constitution by draining the system of its very life fluids, and those afflicted with one of these ulcers grow despondent and almost desperate as one treatment after another fails. They patiently apply salves, washes, plasters, etc., but in spite of all these the sores refuse to heal and eat deeper into the surrounding flesh, destroying the tissues and growing to be a festering, inflamed and angry mass. The source of the trouble is in the blood. This vital fluid is filled with impurities and poisons which are constantly being discharged into the sore or ulcer, making it impossible for the place to heal. It will not do to depend on external applications for a cure, because they do not reach the real cause, and valuable time is lost experimenting with such treatment; the most they can do is keep the ulcer clean. Any sore that will not heal is dangerous, for the reason that it may have the deadly germs of Cancer behind it. A cure can be brought about only through a remedy that can change the quality of the blood, and this is what S. S. S. does. It goes to the very bottom of the trouble, drives out the poisons and germs with which it is filled, and purifies and builds up the entire circulation. By the use of S. S. S. the sore is supplied with new, rich blood which corrects the trouble, soon stops the discharge, and allows the place to heal naturally and permanently. S. S. S. also reinvigorates the entire system, and where the constitution has been depleted or broken down it quickly builds it up and restores perfect health. Write for our special book on sores and ulcers, and any medical advice you are in need of; no charge for either.
